New Wilson Student Athletes of the Week, May 6-10

Senior Maya Goines, Softball: Maya had a big week at the plate for the Trojans batting .500 with some key hits to help seal a third place finish. She strengthens the defense with her quick glove work at third base and has shown herself to be an excellent teammate.

Junior Devan Knight, Baseball: Devan, in two wins over Cleveland was 3 for 6 at the plate with a walk-off single in game one. In game two, he pitched a complete game shutout on 79 pitches allowing only four hits.

New April Teachers of the Month

Brittney Jenkins (Math): Here's what students say about Ms. Jenkins: Mrs. Jenkins gives 110% everyday and walks into the room with a smile in her face, sparkle in her eye, and heartfelt laugh ready to be shared. She strives to help all her students understand and really learn the material while also keeping it fun. Mrs. Jenkins is always is eager to help out a student with anything, even if they are not in her class. A great soccer player and an even better person. Mrs. Jenkins is a great person with a kind heart. She is humorous and relates to her students and is always willing to talk. I had her my freshman year for Geometry. Ms. Jenkins is very caring and engaging and makes sure that students are supported and understand everything before moving forward. I have had Ms. Jenkins for two years now and she is also one of the soccer coaches so I have gotten to know her pretty well. One of the things that makes her different than many other teachers is that she always makes a real effort to get to know every one of her students. She is always wanting to help and be there for her students and is always interested in what is happening in everyone's life which I think is really cool.

Frank Mathews (Social Studies): Students say: Mr. Mathew's classes are engaging, fun, and interactive. He always has a way of making history come alive. He is always asking us how our lives are going on outside of class. He makes connections with history that are relevant and interesting. His taste in music is awesome! Mr. Mathews genuinely cares about his classes and finds ways to make history relate to us all. He finds ways to connect history to sports sometimes which makes the class that much more enjoyable for me. He finds ways to make us laugh when we need it the most. He is creative, outgoing, and super invested in history.

New Wilson Teacher Is a Finalist for Educator of the Year

Wilson Physics teacher Joe Minato has been recognized with the OnPoint Community Credit Union Circle of Excellence award; he is also a finalist for their Educator of the Year award. Circle of Excellence recognition comes with a $1,500 cash prize and a $1,000 donation to Wilson. The winner will be announced on Tuesday, May 21. Mr. Minato has been responsible for the growth of AP Physics at Wilson, which had no classes when he arrived and now has five. He started "science salons" that pair AP Physics students with underclassmen who need help, as well as an astronomy club, and he hosts community star parties and teaches continuing education courses to teachers who are in the early-to-middle parts of their careers. "Mr. Minato can galvanize the sleepest class of teens and set them on fire with his inspiring combination of passion, creativity, knowledge, compassion and humor," writes Kathy Weeks, the parent of a former student, for the award webpage. "Even at lunchtime, Joe's classroom is packed with students who want more." Mr. Minato is a great of example of what makes Wilson great!
