October 8th is Indigenous People's Day

For a long time, Columbus Day was celebrated on this day in the US. In schools, children were taught that Christopher Columbus “discovered” America.

Today, over 55 cities in the US, including Portland, celebrate Indigenous People's Day.

In an effort to spread awareness of Indigenous People's Day, C.A.R.E. Leadership created posters to rethink what this historical event meant and means to Indigenous people across the Caribbean and Americas.

We appreciate all H.ot.A. teachers for re-teaching us about Columbus!
