advantages inherent in each type of group must be considered. Both teacher-led and student-led groups may occur. b. Pre-Assessments: Before each unit students will take a pre-assessment to determine conceptual and skill knowledge. Teacher will then use this information to determine how to adjust (if necessary) tasks or curriculum maps to meet the needs of their students. c. System of on-going or formative assessments that inform instruction: Teachers will use a variety of formative assessments to determine students’ level of understanding: i.e. BAS, MAP: reading/math, Bridges, GVC formative assessments, teacher developed materials when appropriate 3) What are the school-wide structures that provide for appropriate rate and level? (Note: Walk to Math is not an approved structure to meet rate and level) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Teachers use pre-assessments and on-going formative assessments to determine a student’s rate and level and evaluate the need for assignment modifications, acceleration of a subject or independent projects. Once this is determined, teachers can cluster students together to plan differentiated assignments that meet the needs of their students. Work is collected and feedback is given.
We determine whether a student needs acceleration in the following way: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ITBS percentile score Guidelines from the TAG office Teacher input Students needing acceleration are determined by using pre-assessments to evaluate the need for tiered assignments, acceleration of a subject/concept or an independent project to address the student’s specific need. If a student needs subject or concept acceleration within a classroom or with another class we work with our counselor,	Assessment data, teacher records	On going

TAG coordinator, administration and TAG TOSAs (if appropriate) to determine the best way to meet the students' needs.
Our process for using data to measure the growth of our TAG students is: to use a variety of formative and summative assessments to consistently monitor student progress and inform instructional decisions with the goal of keeping all students engaged at their rate and level. We also use curriculum embedded assessments to decide if our students our making adequate growth at their level. Grade level teams review data summaries by grade level and for individual students a minimum of 3x a year.	Data summaries, report cards, grade books	quarterly
The following options for acceleration are available at our school: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Subject acceleration in classrooms using higher materials ● Independent work projects ● Conferring and small groups during Workshop ● Battle of the Books group work ● Kahn Academy ● Spelling challenge words ● Small group differentiated instruction ● Higher level questioning ● Out of grade level work places that align with math concepts and practices Students access these options in the following manner: Teachers use assessment results to determine the level and rate students should be learning. Teachers adjust instructional groups and provide differentiated instruction. Teacher/parent conferences occur to help students access these options and make the choices that best meet the students' needs.	Classroom observations and walkthroughs by the administration, assessment data	On going
If a student requires a course beyond what is typically available for that grade or subject area, that student can access this course or experience in the following ways: Based on pre-assessments, summative assessments from past year, work samples and a review of class work, students may be assigned to a cluster group for the year or put into a flexible group for a specific unit of study. Most accommodations and differentiation take place within the classroom.	Teacher lesson plans and grade books	On going
