

RECONNECTION CENTER AT KENTON

The Reconnection Center is a short-term program for high school students who have been disconnected from school. Students gain academic skills and have a positive school experience, while they search for a more permanent school experience so that they can achieve their diploma or GED.

At the Reconnection Center, our work is based in healing-centered engagement with our students, acknowledging that school has likely not been a place of healing for them. We provide wrap around support through our student support team of social workers and our school counselor.
