

Franklin Modernization

A $113 million investment in Southeast Portland

New Gym/Biomedical/Culinary Arts building nears completion

Brick finishing work

Construction Past the Halfway Mark

The construction process of the modernized Franklin remains on schedule with renovations to the historic 1915 building happening concurrently with the construction of new facilities including a Gym/Biomedical/Culinary Arts, Performing Arts Center, CTE/Maker Space and Student Center buildings. The exterior brick veneer on many of these new buildings is nearly complete while framing and overhead mechanical installations are in progress. Inside the 1915 building framing, drywall, painting and ceiling grid installations highlight the build-back of the previously demolished spaces. Soon the new stairs in the main lobby will be built while the old auditorium transforms into the new media center.

Interior Renovations

Seamless Transition to Marshall

Franklin students successfully relocated to the Marshall campus at 3905 SE 91st Ave. for the two-year construction period. To learn more about transit routes trips to the Marshall Campus check out the TriMet schedule page: <http://trimet.org/schedules/index.htm>.
